THE HON. THOMAS EWING .- It is said that Onio will not improbably call this illustrious son of hers to represent her in the Senate of the nation. We hope this saying is true. We should rejoice to see this prohability reduced to a certainty. The event would be a sufficient ground for national rejoicing. Mr. Ewing is beyond dispute one of the greatest of living American statesmen. Ho is a great juist as well as a great statesmen. He is and hes ever been a conservative. He is a patriot without a flaw or a stain. The elevation by Ohio of such a man at such a time to the Senate of the nation would mark a glorious epoch in the history of this mighty struggle. It would be not merely a rare and preclous accession of statesmunship to the public councils, but a Northern armies, they yet would probably pledge of conservatism on behalf of the North that would inspire tha open loyalty of the South with new-energy and the secret loyalty of the Sonth with new hope. It would deal a sensible blow on the head of the staggering the rebellion. Still it may fairly be a question rebellion, and at the same time increase sensibly the shility of the nation to improve the victory that is virtually won. It would be hailed by Southern patriots and by ally admits to be untrue, or those who anthoughtful patriots everywhere clsa as an emer of spedy and thorough success moral as well as military. We hope most sincercly and anxlously that Ohio will do in this relation what it is said she contemplates. We, however, of course have no thought of obtruding our advice in the case, deeply as Kentucky Is concerned in the issue. This we perhaps have not tho right to do. Certainly we have not the inclination. We very willingly confide the whole matter to the loyalty and enlightenment of cur sister State. If Gen McClellan had gone ent from

Washington to attack the great Confederate army in that second Gibraltar, Manassas, he would have been descated, and terrible indeed Petomac might without the least difficulty rale, it would have been held sacred. sweep resistlessly down from Washington to | If we have given offence to the Cinciunati

McClellon, who has been hitterly thused in many quarters because he was no assane enough to risk the whole cause of the errainly been in conformity with and in pursuance of what has been for some months his general plan of the winter campaign. And no doubt more of that plan, and the most striking part of it, remains to he executed. We have deep and enduring confidence in

Gen. M Clellan. We bolievo him to he a great General. One of the minor evidencea of his greetness appears in the mute patience, the calm dignity, the uncomplaining fortitude and heroism with which he has horne, month after month, the senseless sneers, the unjust ridicule, and the ruthless invective of mere politicians, who could not comprehend him, and who faucied themselves quulified to lead the armies of the world.

We have received several letters lately, slavery to the Union. The writers of these letters may be, and probably are, conscientions in what they say, but we think their views are narrow and their conclusions and charges false and unjust.

It is partly because we are devoted to the Union that we are opposed to the radical and would burn and devastate wherever they should violent measures that have been suggested and go Sonth. And now the secession papers of urged in the prosecution of this war. No North Carolina allege that their troops patridonht there are men at the North who honestly think that the arming of the slaves against tho South and the confiscation and liberation of all the slaves of the States in rebellion would flumes. So it seems that our armics, instead promote the restoration of the Union, but, in of burning Southern cities, rescue them from tha exercise of the best judgment God has the incendiary torch of the Confederales themgiven us, we think that such a policy, far from promoting the restoration of the Union, would render it utterly impossible. And we believe that we could show this, if we have not already shown It, to the satisfaction of all cangan, with only three thousand five hundred men, and but three or four piecea of artillery, held the very hastily constructed and imperfect fortification at Lexington, Mo., aguinst Gen. Price's army of thirty thousand men during three days of terrible fighting and then capitulated only because his troops were literally perishing for water. And, remembering this, think how Gen. Buckner, with fifteen thousand men and fifty pieces of artillery, some of them 128-pounders, in a perfect Gihraltar, with plenty of victuals and drink, and planty of powder and ball to shoot with, hauled down the black flag, skull, cross-bones and all, and surrendered to Gen. The deeply angrossing importance of the current events in cur nation's blatery has compelled us to publish much more matter in the Journal than we have herstofore done. On every page of our paper will be found the latest and most interesting news, and we shall he compalled still further to increase the reading matter in erder to keep up the record of these stirring times. As a newspaper is not sustained exclusively by its anhacriptione, but is flargely dependent upon advertising, it becomes important that the publishers should rander every portion of their sheet in teresting by the distribution of reading matter on every pigs. The news of the morning, therefore. has to be placed on our first and fourth pages tr make room for the telegraphic despatches and mail intelligence which reaches us at night. Our enbec ibsis to the country Daily, which is the half sheet, containing only the second and third pages of the city daily, tan therefore receive but a mnisty of the new as it transpires. The difference in the price of these two editions or the tri-weekly is but three dollars a year, or about a cent a day; and we believe that our subscribers to the country daily or the tri-weekly would be more than compensated if they were to take the whole sheet. They can make the change at any time by the payment of the difference, and If they do not find the change to their advantage, they can, after a fair test, return to the old system. Our profits are greater on the half sheet at five dollars than the whole sheet at sight, but we throw out these hints because we want every subscriber to be fully eatlefied and to obtain all the news.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF PRISONERS -The sensation yesterday was the anticipation of the arrival of General S. B. Buckner and other tebal efficers who yielded to Gen. Grant's excesdiogly "ungenerous" nemand at Fort Donelson, and surrendered themselves prisoners of war. We stated yesterday that the steamer Argonant had left Cairo on Friday with the prisoners on bnard, two weeks. and the arrival of the diminutive apacimen (f etsamhoat architecture, with its precious cargo. R. Smith, George P. Smith and Mertha Hughes was awalted with much anxiety. Accompanying Usn. Buckner's staff were ninservante, and one hundred and ten non-commis sioned officers and privates. It had been arranged with Dr. Crothers, Sep ::

Intendent of the Jeffersonville and Indianapolis Railroad, that a train should leave for Indianal lis with the prisoners immediately upon the arrival of the Argonaut, and the prisoners were second logly hurried from the best to the train, and da the Bumble Scenes. parted for Indianapolis without the coremony of a Walker a company of Indiana Infantry. Many friends among the prisoners, hurried to deffereon an opportunity to communicate with their friends, but the time which intervened between the arri val of the prisoners and their departure was to brief to insure their gratification, and their frier da returned in disappointment. Fearing the outside pressure upon the prisoners at Jeffarsonvilla, Col. Dent detalled a persion of the Provost Gnard of this city to preceed to Jeffer on ville to incure good order. No excitement or disturbance occurred, however, to render the presence of the Guard essential to the preservation of the ordinary degr a of propriety which pervades our sister city.

At the rellroad depot in Jeffersonville, Colonel l'ant, who was in command of the Provost Guard, conversed freely with the prisoners, many o whom made him the bearer of messages and other favors to their friends in this city. Meny of the prisonars were disposed to enter complaint becansa thay were not permitted to visit their friends folly, of Gen. Pillow. The commenders of the they could not win the hattle. Pillow, with his city alone. forces, was to cut his wey through the right flank of the Fedural forces, and, at a given pe riod, was to signal Gen. Buckner, who was to attempt a similar feat. Pillow succeeded partially, but in the weakness of his joy over his anpposed escape, neglected the signals and set about telegrephing a report southward that he had won a great victory. In that delnding his rebel friends, for he was driven back to his old quarters, and only escaped by stelling ont after night-fall.

Gen. Buckner states that the opportunity was tendered him and his stall to make their escape with thens. Floyd and Pillow, and the plan was enhinitted to the officers. After consultation they, with a single exception, determined to share the fate of their men. We blash to make the admission, but it was our quondem friend Dick Wintersmith, who proposed to sacrifice the men and save the officers. Dick, it should be remnmhered, was himself an officer. It is neeless to add that he escaped.

General Buckner expressed the cpinion that the relials would not make a stand at Nashville. Capt. Walker, the commander of the company who had been detailed to gnard the prisoners, says the rehel officers, nitvillustanding they had heen generously permitted to retain their eide arms formed a plan to take possession of tha hoat on Sucday night a short distance below the ciry. It was discovered, however, and its consummation prevented by the vigilance of the Revolutionary war. Comwallie enrendered Capt. Walker.

We see heartily glad, that Gen. Buckner, on arriving here upon a steamer, was ro' land-d in Louisville hat teken to the other side of the river on his way to Indianapolis. The deep and terrible iodignation felt against him here hy lnjared fathers and brothers might have produced

FEBROARY 19th, 1862. The Commonweelth against Speuce (slave of Mrs. Seay), assisting slaves to e cape from their owners. This case was heard in the City Court of

Wednesday last and elicited considerable interest from the number of slaves (four) that had sterted logether to make their ecope into Canada, and from the robbery committed by them on the night of their escape from home. The offerce committed by Spence being a midsmeanor and punishable with stripes, the Court ordered that thirty-nine should be given. The testimony of his agency in assisting and persuading the negroes to run away, and also in advising them to commit the robbury which they did him commits the robbury which they did him commits the robbury. commit the robbery, which they did being concin-sive of he guilt, the testimony in the case is su'thined in order that the public may be informed of the sgenciss that are at work in our midst, and the tamperiog with our slaves by free negroes, slavas, and others, to cause them to escape and to commit rebheries to procure the me ins travel to Caneda. It is proper to say tha ither Mr. Richard M. Moore nor Robert A Seav. the two geutlemen who arrested the na-gross, are membrrs of the city police or have any connection whatever with the members of the police department of the city. It is also further proper to state that es soon as Mr. R. M. Bloom neard a statement of the evidence given in the out to Dr. Graves's residence and returned to him the money which ha (Moore) received as his part of the reward for apprehending the slaves. Mr. Moore became satisfied that it was not the intention of Spance to aid the negrees out of the State, but simply to bring them into Louisville, raport their whereahouts, and have them arrest-Under this state of the case Mr. Moore did t think hin ought to claim the reward, and act think in degnt to claim the reward, and did accordingly return what he had received The first knowledge which Mr. Meere bed of the claves heing in the city was communicated to him by Mr. Seay very shortly before the arrest was made. We think as it was Mr. Seay's ther's slave that d.d the wrong that he shou ikewise return what he bad received as his pa or arresting the nagroes. LLOID'S OFFICIAL MAPS - Every day gives additional proof of the value of these maps to those who wish to trace the history of the rebellion. The maps of Kentucky, Missouri, Virginia, and of the Southern States are a necessity, and we find these are made accurate. It is true that places beretefore unimportant are not set down ent their locality can easily to discovered, and by cutting their usines out of a newspaper and pasting them on the position; of Forts Henry and Donel on, Webb's Cross Roads, Logan's Fields, and other spots now known to fame, may be noted. The excellence of these maps and the vory economical price at which they are offered ere equal recommendations for their purchase. GENERAL ORDERS NO. 13

The stock market to-lar was more active and comewhat firmer than yesterday. The advance was not in portant in any metine, but the feeling generally was favorable to the rise. The plucipal feature of the market was the removed speculative activity and buopancy in Tenuesses and Missorol state stocks, and from the advance in these rance the main logale in the thara market. The lungrovement in these State stocks since the Fed at victories has been from 10 to
